

Characterizations of Indices of Power

Abstract

A central concept in Political Science is power. Here we will be concerned with power in a formal voting system. We shall introduce some indices of power in a simple voting game and for each, present a set of independent postulates that characterize it.