

Solution to Problem 3.4

This queue may be analysed in exactly the same fashion as a normal M/G/1 queue with the customer arrival process modified to be now a Poisson process with mean rate $\lambda(1-p)$. Note that this will be the arrival process of customers who actually enter the system, while arriving customers leave without service following a Poisson process with rate λp .